9, 2006 - Michelle Young is buried. Nov. Jason Young will have visitation every other weekend, during holidays, birthdays and summers. Soon after, in December 2009, Jason was arrested for first-degree murder, with investigators citing the evidence that was gathered for the wrongful death suit (via the Transylvania Times). He was sentenced to serve life in prison at the Alexander Correctional Institution in North Carolina. but, [I] don't care. A jury failed to reach a unanimous verdict in his first trial in June. In answering questions from prosecutors and defense attorneys about the call, Meredith Fisher said that, while she was on the phone with 911 that afternoon, her niece was also competing for her attention. At one point during the call, Fisher asked Cassidy Young if anyone had been in the house. Horrifically, Young was beaten to death but Cassidy, who was at home during her mother's killing, survived. This conduct is consistent with acting out and relating to a traumatic event," Stephens said. When the jury failed to reach a verdict, a second trial was set. Michelle Young's sister testified that she had also spoken about her father and continued to do so after the call. Jason Young has said he was in Virginia on business at the time of the crime, and his attorneys have said there is no physical evidence linking him to the crime. He was arrested in December 2009 and went on trial last summer, but Superior Court Judge Donald Stephens declared a mistrial after a jury couldn't reach a unanimous verdict. Palmatier's testimony wasn't introduced in Jason Young's first trial, and Wake County Assistant District Attorney Howard Cummings told Stephens Friday that its purpose is not to show what Cassidy saw. "Just over time, there's just a lot of things that happened the day his wife was murdered he can't explain. 8, 2006 - Jason Young responds to a non-testimonial court order to submit blood and DNA samples, as well as fingerprints. "She began to say that mommy's getting a spanking for biting, and she also said that mommy has boo-boos all over. "But Cassidy a woke from a nap and told her teacher that mommy fell on the floor and had boo-boos."It stopped making sense," Palmatier said. But oddly, WRAL notes that when Fisher found Cassidy, she was clean. In unfortunate circumstances, on November 2nd, 2006, Michelle Young was found viciously murdered in her own house. Despite this conclusion, Jason had yet to be charged with her murder. "She talked about animals in the barn, and they were hungry, and she jumped to, 'Daddy bought me new fruit snacks.'"Michelle Young was 29 years old and five months' pregnant when her body was discovered facedown in a pool of blood in the upstairs bedroom of the couple's Raleigh home on Nov. A new trial is set for the week of Oct. Born and raised in California Cassidy received her Bachelor's of Fine Arts from the University of California, Santa Barbara and her Master's in Art Education from Indiana University, Bloomington. Dec. A baby doll had been placed by her mother's head, and her bloody footprints were found throughout the crime scene. In a 911 recording, the child can be heard talking about her mother. 2, 2006 - Jason Young goes out of town on business. He returned home, killed his wife and drove through the night back to the hotel, prosecutors allege. Gracie Calhoun, a cashier at the Four Brothers Food Store in King, N.C. - about 120 miles from Raleigh - testified that she had a face-to-face encounter with Jason Young around 5:30 a.m. on Nov. "They were not shy about fighting in public, pulling us in the middle of it so much so that it became uncomfortable at times." Often, she said, they fought about telling us his opinion on that," Schaad said. For a long time, she continued, Michelle Young would argue back. Jason was also a graduate of the same university as Michelle. 17, 2006 - Sheriff's investigators release the Young's employer, Progress Energy, announces a $10,000 reward for information leading to a conviction in the case. Oct By 2001, she was financially prosperous, and soon, she bumped into a man who would help her personal life thrive. "The guy came in the store, started cussing and everything and threw a $20 at me, told me he was getting $20 and left," Calhoun said. The man, whom she identified as Jason Young, was upset, she said, because she refused to turn on the gas pump until he paid. He pulled away in a white SUV and drove around the store past an adjoining McDonald's. When police paid her a visit three days later and showed her a photo of Jason Young, "I told them he was just in my store a couple days ago." Prosecutors say the Youngs' marriage was troubled and that Jason Young wanted to maintain a college lifestyle, didn't want to be married and felt pressured to marry Michelle Young when she found out she was pregnant with Cassidy. Defense attorneys concede that their client was a bad husband but say that he loved his wife and unborn son and did not kill them. There's no physical evidence connecting him to the killing, they say, and he would not have had the time to commit the crime as the state says he did. That would include cleaning up Cassidy, whose bloody footprints were found in the bedroom and a hallway bathroom. Wake County sheriff's deputy Scott Earp - one of two officers first to arrive at the Young house - testified that he was caught off guard when Fisher told him she had not cleaned the girl."
