Unlike Twitter or LinkedIn, Reddit seems to have a closer learning curve for new users, especially for those users who fall outside the millennial cohorts and Gen-Z. But although it may not be so omnipresent of generations such as, for example, Facebook, Reddit is still the fifth most-visited site in the United States. It is ranked 13th most visited all over the world, according to a survey conducted by Alexa Internet in July 2019. Founded in 2005 since then, University of Virginia Students Alexis Ohanian (Serena Williams' husband) and Steve Huffman, Reddit is a multi-purpose website that deals with 'social aggregation, evaluation of web content and discussion of users. Essentially, users (Dundibed "redditor") create member profiles and "normally kept anonymously via chat room-encoque user names" and send Content to the site, including images, text messages, links, videos and meme. These posts are organized in user-generated cards called "subdischits" and, very similar to virtual folders in a virtual storage cabinet, these sub-channels allow to Users to easily access content in specific topics. Looking for content on your favorite HBO series? Try the game of the throne subdisponzo, stylized as R / GameFthrone to reflect the way the name of each Nutrochdit appears in part your URL. Isn't your style? Perhaps the fitness topics appeal and you should check R / Fitness. Do you want to watch the photos of splendid homes from all over the world? Head on R / Cozyplaces. What to say, there is a subtaxox for practically every topic - or you can create one if they don't already exist. Once users add content to a sub-session, these messages can be "upvotate" or "downvoted" from other members. More the thumb increases a post, closer to the top of the subtitle page, will be, which means that it will probably get more seen. If a post is sufficiently woken up, it can appear on the site's homepage, where you will receive the largest number of eyes on it. Like other user-focused sites, the success of the success of the reddit of a post on popularity. But even the founders of the site failed to understand how popularize their platform will become popular. In 2006, when they were in the early 1920s, Ohanian and Huffman sold the site to condemn publications somewhere between $ 10 million and $ 20 million. Courtesy Photo: Photo illustration of Avishek Das / Sopa Images / Lightrocket / Getty Images While it might seem to be a payment of Cushy, the so-called "front page of the Internet" was evaluated at $ 1.8 billion in the next decade and was supported by investors as rapper-transformed-entrepreneur snoop dogg and mosaic web browser Marc Andreessen. Starting in February 2019, the company's assessment also increased to $3 billion. Needless to say that Reddit is both popular and valuable. But the site has also remodeled the way users interact with each other, a fact that maybe it is better seen in the growth of the R/relationships underdiscounted. With 2.7. 2.7.Members, R / Relationships presents itself as "a community built around helping people and the objective of providing a platform for consulting interpersonal relationships between income. We are looking for messages from users who have specific and personal relationship problems that other inclines can help them solve. concerning the identity of the poster itself. Some examples include: (28 F [female]) I feel a little guilty because I'm spending Christmas with my partner (26 m [female] instead of with my family; (20 m [female], bisexual) I feel uncomfortable to go out with my girlfriend (19 f [female]); (22 f [female]) I can't say if they are emotionally and (We my Partner says "Make me happy", it makes me uncomfortable. You are probably cautious: in most sites, comments are a mined field populated by (Troll) and invaded by toxicity. So much so that some sites disable comments entirely. And (True: Reddit is not immune even to the vitriol and has certainly done news for the offensive and bigotte things that the members have said. Photo Courtesy: David Paul Morris / Bloomberg / Getty Images But, perhaps surprisingly, the moderators and the shared mission mission mission that unites almost 2.7 million members have reported a relatively safe space. A space in which people feel enough at ease to be vulnerable with strangers. Even if the handles on Reddit tend to be enormous enough, many posters in relationships tend to create "Buttable accounts", or accounts created with the sole purpose of asking these complicated questions and publish these rather intimate thoughts. Surely, the anonymity has a lot to do with why the vulnerability in relationships feel good, but also the quality of the advice, not to mention the resources that the Redditors share with each other, is surprisingly caring and deep. Unlike the columns of tips once, as "dear Abbyä" or "Miss Manners", there is a single expert who distributes advice. This crowdsourcing allows the inclines to connect with others through anger, broken heart and confusion. If someone needs mental peace or being pulled out of a situation with which he is struggling, the unofficial internet bulletin board offers a hand. There is no doubt that some people hide on the Subreddit without writing a single word. Instead, these affiliates look at the places perhaps for a need for escape from their lives, or maybe just because It's something that humans can't help but have fun. to have fun. It illustrates how we can use the Internet to go outside our perspectives - to understand ourselves and the things that limit us ... and this deserves an upvote. In the middle of his Tour After Party, the accusations against R. Kelly emerged, claiming that he is presumably running what he describes as a "worship". Monday morning, buzzfeed published an investigation into accusations that R. Kelly is holding women against their will. The report included interviews with women who were once part of the internal circle of Kelly, as well as the parents of women who mark with him or in the houses he has now, and the statements made against him alleged to have attracted these women under The anguish to help them with their music careers. Update: Kelly's lawyer, Linda Mensch, released the following statement for envelopes: Mr. Robert Kelly is both alarmed and disturbed to recent revelations to him attributed to him. Mr. Kelly unequivocally denies these accusations and will run diligently and strongly to pursue his accusers and clarify the name of him. Previously: Bustle reached Kelly's lawyer, the representative and RCA registers to comment on the report, but did not receive an answer at the time of publication. Kelly's lawyer told buzzfeed, "we can only wonder why people can persist in the defamate a great artist who loves his fans, works 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, and takes Care of all people in his life," "wrote Mensch. "works hard to become the best person and the artist who can be. It is interesting that stories and stories Debunked many years ago when his goal is to stop violence; they already put the guns; and Embrace peace and love. I suppose it's the price of fame. Like all of us, Mr. Kelly deserves a personal life. Please respect it. In the Buzzfeed report, a woman identified only as J. stated that in 2015, she and her daughter of 19, who is not nominated in history, had the chance to meet the backstage of R. Kelly in a show, and after discovering that he was registering demo, he was offered to help her Take his career from the ground. Now, her and her husband, identified as Tim, claim to have seen his daughter from December and have just heard since then. J. claimed to buzzfeed: "was like If it were brainwashing. [She] looked like a prisoner "was horrible. I hugged him and hugged him. But he continued to say he is in love and [Kelly] is the one who takes care of her. I don't know what Do. I hope that if you repurchase it, I can get the treatment for cult victims. They can reprogram it. But I would have been able to stop it from accessing. According to what reported, the daughter of J. and a record producer named Tone registered secretly A phone call with Kelly who reportedly said she was going to change the sex theme when she tried to talk to him about her career. The audio was obtained by Buzzfeed. During the call, she says Kelly says, "I want you to be in the habit of telling me what color you had every day." Buzzfeed also spoke with Cheryl Mack, Kitti Jones and Asante McGee, who were once close to Kelly. According to them, six women allegedly live in Kelly's homes in Chicago and Atlanta, and presumably controls what they eat and wear and record the sexual activity they have with them. According to Mack, presumably requires women to wear track clothes so as not to attract attention from other men and presumably exchange their phones for those who give them, instructing them to call only those who give them permission to speak with. Mack and Jones claimed that the punishment for breaking one of Kelly's rules could include physical and verbal consequences. Mack said: "This is R. Kelly, I will live a sumptuous lifestyle. No, you have to ask for food. You have to ask to go use the bathroom. [Kelly] is a master in mental control. ... He is a master of puppets." J.'s roommate at Georgia Gwinnett College, identified as T.S., said J.'s daughter would put Kelly on speaker while she had sexually explicit conversations with him. He also stated that J.'s daughter once told her that when she was going to a club with other women in Kelly's circle, she laughed at something that the taxi driver said and one of the other women wrote Kelly to let him know she had broken a rule. T.S said that when J.'s daughter arrived at the club, Kelly " took it and hit it behind because she laughed at the taxi driver, which happened to be a man." J. and her husband asked the police to carry out health checks on their daughter on multiple occasions. J.'s daughter told Cook County Sheriff's Department that she was "good and didn't want to be bothered with her parents because her father was threatening people." (Tim denied this.) Tests between the woman and the grandmother who were obtained by Buzzfeed revealed that she thinks her parents want to ruin Kelly's career. A Florida mother, who asked to be called Theresa, said her 17-year-old daughter was pulled out of the audience in one of Kelly's shows and also said she could get help with her music from. Soon, once it was more than an age of legal consent, it was assumed to live with Kelly and stopped communicating with her parents after asking them not to contact her. McGee said that the Florida woman was left on a bus tour for three days after not finishing her "homework," and also claimed that Kelly is "obsessed" with her. Her father, Angelo, also claimed that her daughter told him that Kelly had recently paid for her to have breast enhancement surgery. J. Tim's husband said Buzzfeed: "It is not my daughter, for herself. It's about all the girls. It's about my daughter, and I get it. But the abusemy daughter is actually going through, no one should go through." J. and her husband talked to the FBI about where the daughter is, and they hope they'll be able to helpTheir daughter at home. Kelly spoke only up to now through her lawyer's statement, above. on.
