There is no fixed hacking classification, but I will tell you all the techniques I remember. It is not possible to say all about all hacking techniques, so it will give you all the basic methodologies for hacking knowledge.common computer terminals (server): (server): This method is to obtain terminal control (or server), to make it useless or crashed. These hacking techniques have been used for a long period of time, and are still used today.1. Denial of Service (DOS Attack) with a DOS attack, hackers can at the bottom of the network without having internal access. DOS attacks control access routers and put fake traffic on them (which can be e-mail or transmission control protocol, TCP, packages). 2. Distributed Doss Distributed Doss (DDOSS) are multiple DOS connections made by more sources. It is very difficult to stop or block a multiple ddos attack, changing, source IP addresses are used in it. 3. Snuffs thread means of interception / connection TCP packages. This interception can be done with a simple interception or some other sinister. 4. Spoofing spoofing means sending an illegitimate package a hacker that has an expected recognition (ACK), and that the hacker can guess, predict, or get some snooping. 5. SQL Injection SQL INJECTION is a hacking technical code injection capable of checking the safety vulnerability of a database layer of the application. In this, normal SQL commands are used to access the database. 6. Viruses and worms Viruses and worms are self-replicating programs or code fragments that attach to other programs (viruses) or machines (worms). Viruses and worms are trying to turn off the network, which is made from fake trafficking. 7. Back Hacker ports can get control over any network by accessing its rear ports Administrative shortcuts, configuration errors, decrypt passwords, and not guaranteed dial-ups. With the help of computer researchers (bot), hackers can find the weak point of any network. Isn't it interesting? There is more to do now. So let's try now they know how to affect e-mail passwords: 8. Trojan Trojan horses horses, which are attached to other programs, are the main cause of flowing. Every time a user downloads or activates a troia horse, this software gets full control over the user's system and can check that computer, as well - big ... !!! They are also called Rat (Remote Administration) tools. 9. Brute forcing this is the longest and tiring task; Never use it if you don't know your victim's password series. This technique is a long time, but will help you guess the password. for instance. If you want to affect your Facebook account of friends, and you know the few words of your password. That is to say if the password of friends is "bhati23", and you know that in your password there is "b, a, 2", etc. So brute to force you will help you cracking the password. Note: victim means whose e-mail you want to affect. 10. Keylogger Understanding the situation - Whatever you type in a system is sent to a hacker; It doesn't make it easier to affect passwords. Keylogger perform similar functions, so next time, be careful before typing anything! Google can also be going to avoid this. 11. Social engineering This is one of the oldest hacking tricks. In this method, you try to convince your victim that you are a legitimate person and you need their password, to maintain your account. This doesn't work in today's time, because now all users know the scam. If you can convince users in any other way, then use this method only! 12. Phishing this is a kind of keylogging. In this method, you need to take the user to a web page you have created. As soon as the user type the password, you can find the password in your mailbox.13. Fake messengers This is a type of phishing application format. In this method, you have to do the user enter the password in their software in some way, and You can see the password. 14. Cookie Stealer In this method, cookies that are saved on sites are decoded, and if you are lucky, you can get the password! Hmmm .. Don't have fun, hacking one at a time? Let's see some ways to hack more account. 15. DNS or Pharminghow poisoning can be convinced someone to put their password in a one How would it be if they were redirected to your site without knowledge? This is Pharming. The DNS Poisoning cache, also known as DNS Spoofing, is a type of attack that exploits the vulnerability of the domain name system (DNS) to divert Internet traffic from legitimate servers and to false ones. One of the reasons for the poisoning of the DNS is so dangerous is because it can spread from DNS servers for DNS .17 server. Whale hunt with this method, you can get the hacker account password, which hackers use to get passwords of others. Ie, just engrave an id, this is the simplest method. The pass will have many passwords, which means many accounts under your control.if you have to learn hacking deeply, instead of using tools or software, do a little hard work yourself, and research and develop your own hacking techniques.
