Wow classic mage training levels

When you're leveling up tailoring and need to make armor you don't need, you can disenchant it for extra enchanting materials. If you are able to kill the mob in a Blizzard or less you are probably in good shape. Both are fairly uncommon, but don't be afraid to go out of your way to find equipment with this. Can feel repetitive and boring to play. You can Conjure Water as a mage, but this isn't very helpful if you're already out of mana and didn't make any water in advance! As a mage, you really don't need to group up. This page contains information on World of Warcraft Classic's Leveling Guide for the Mage class, from level 1 to level 60. The only type of armor you'll ever be able to wear is cloth. The brazier equipment available to Engineers will allow you to enhance or stun your opponents, charm them, deal extra damage, launch yourself across fighting arenas, and even open locks when out in the world. While it has roughly the same area of attack, "Arcane Explosion" differs from "Blizzard" in the way the damaging area of "Arcane Explosion" centers on the Mage. Spell/Frost/Damage Your highest priority for stats is what will result in the greatest damage increase. All you really want to do is cast Frostbolt, with the goal of still being out of mana range of your target when the cast finishes. To make things simpler, you can also use Frost Nova to freeze enemies in place. Mages are powerful spellcasters and, because of this, they rely far more on stats and bonuses than melee-focused classes do. Some of Cold is another option that slows enemies hit by 50% for 8 seconds. The quest can be obtained from and turned in to Ormer Ironbraid in Wetlands. This will allow you to keep them at a distance while also damaging them. All of them have an unspoken level requirement, considering that you'll find different leveled monsters depending on the zone. Obtain the second quest in the Sunken Treasure quest chain. If you plot on challenging difficult endgame raids, Tailoring and Enchanting is an ideal choice. This will help you regenerate out of combat, making you spend less time drinking water. 5% Hit is needed for cap. Some zones are great for either faction, but others are specifically designed for Horde or Alliance. Humans are not too bad with their "Perception" which allows them to see rogues up to 10 meters away, but the long CD (3min) and the lack of passive + 5% of intellect makes them weaker than gnomes (pve and pvp both). This strategy also lets your mana start regenerating faster, so keep your wand at the ready. Once enemies are attacking you, start spamming Arcane Explosion. Status priority: Conclusion For best leveling Spirit > Intelligence > Stamina (the green set of "the eye (int / spirit) is perfect. For a mix between leveling and PvP, Intelligence > Spirit > Stamina (the eye & "sage" (int / stamina) is very good too. Of course, if you get gear with spell damage, do not hesitate. Next, pick up at least two ranks of "Improved Frostbolt". You can go for a full five if you like, for the fastest casting times, but you'll need at least two ranks to proceed. 5% Hit is needed for cap-Against a Target 3 Levels Higher Than You (BOSS) - You have a 17% chance to miss. Thanks for all these people for marking this guide possible.Kargus, Virtue, Elysium Forum, Notalarius Forum, Jace. A mob of the same level as you gives 100% exp, a mob with + 1 Ml gives only 104% exp. With the Totems in hand, head to the cairns which comprise the Circle of Outer Binding and combine them to obtain the Bolt Charged Bramble. Around the mid 30s you can wear the Azure crafted set for +50 Frost damage when you're wearing every piece. Pick up everything in the next row. Naturally has spell hit rating through talents. Alchemy - Alchemy is fantastic for a mage because you can make several different potions and elixirs that will increase your spell damage. Mana Channeling Wand - Requires Level 56. You have multiple useful cooldowns for keeping yourself alive. When looking for the best Mage gear, always prioritize Spell Power, Intellect, and Spirit. We'll cover your stat priority, rotation, optimal talent build path, essential abilities to train, and professions that will make everything a little better! Very easy to play. Spirit increases the mana you regenerate each tick, therefore you are gonna drink less, and spend less time drinking. In the next row, pick up "Arctic Reach" for extra Frost spell range. "Frost Channeler" to increase the efficiency of your spellcasting, and the all-important "Shatter", the kincchin in the build which increases your critical strike chance by a whopping 50% against frozen targets. Obtained from the Wand Vendor in fiction capital cities. Don't be afraid to Polymorph an enemy if you don't feel confident fighting a whole pack. Here are some tips to progress quickly during the leveling of mage in Classic Wow. Herbe are required to make Arcane potions for end-game raids, and Mining is used by both Engineers and Blacksmiths, so there will always be demand. Staves typically will have higher stats on them, but the combination of a sword/warrior and an offhand held item will generally result in higher spell damage, making them a better option for a mage. As a mage, you'll constantly be casting spells, meaning you won't be able to benefit from Spirit unless you're using Mage Armor, which isn't a great idea. In your 40s, the Dreamweaver crafted set is an upgrade for you that will last all the way to level 60. Keep striding away for the couple of seconds you need for a new Frost Nova. Stamina will increase your HP, this isn't very useful against mobs as you don't get hit, and even if you do get hit you still shouldn't be taking enough damage to justify the HP increase (The reason you will face tank mobs is to trade HP for Mana by wandling a mob to death, which you should do to be efficient, which you can't do with SP gear because you'll end up killing mobs after using your last Frostbolt, which will allow you to regain one tick of your HP to finish the mob with a wand (0 mana cost) and be able to get 2.3 ticks of natural mana regen before attacking the next opponent. Here is the list of the best wand to get during your leveling. After picking up "Rituals of Power" from Magus, head to the Library section of the Scarlet Monastery, located in the Tirindal Glades (use the Undercity Teleport if you are Horde). You'll know a Rank 1 version of the spell, and you can upgrade it at Levels 8, 14, 20, 26, 32, 38, 44, 50, and 56. Against a target 2 levels higher than you: You have a 6% chance to miss. Enchanting is also an excellent money-maker, but you'll need to work harder to level up your skill to make this off this profession. This is fairly simple to the natural chilling slow applied by Frostbolt, but you also have a few other abilities to help you out. Mages are the fastest levelers in Vanilla if their AoE farm spots aren't overpopulated. Wow Classic -> Mage Last updated on March 9, 2023. "Ice Shards" makes your crits hit much harder. "Frostbite" adds a chance to freeze chilled opponents (which will lead to more crits later in the build). "Improved Frost Nova" unlocks the most important talent in the build, and "Permafrost" makes the excellent Chill status even more powerful. Here are some great professions to train while leveling a mage: Tailoring - Without a doubt, tailoring is your best profession option while leveling. Intellect will give you a bigger mana pool and slightly increase your chances to land a Critical Strike. You have fantastic survivability and damage, letting you easily solo elite monsters and clear groups of mobs. Every new piece of equipment you find helps too. Alliance (only) Chemist Zapper - Requires Level 35. Frost is the most popular leveling and raiding specialization, offering plenty of damage with one of the simplest rotations in the game. Each wand offered increases spell damage by 9 for a specific tree of mage spells. Each new level and ability you earn makes you feel a little bit stronger. If you need to use it in quick succession, you can use Cold Snap to reset it in a pinch. In PvP, Frost Mages will do well to root people with Frost Nova or other immobilizing Frost abilities, then take advantage of Shatter talent to get a critical hit. Especially useful to switch to a Expert stuff between fights to reduce resource downtime when you need to take your horse or run from one spot to another. Use a powerful spell on an opponent when they are frozen - often this means using Fire Bolt fairly quickly before the ice melts. Although you can make a variety of builds work if you truly want to, Frost is the way to go when leveling a Mage. Intellect increases your mana pool, and Spirit increases your mana regeneration. Blackstone Wand - Requires Level 41. As a spellcaster, you will always have a 1% chance to miss with your spells. This potent combination enables you to distribute powerful stat-boosting potions to the rest of the raid, or world at large (and making some coin for yourself at the same time). If you want to make a ton of money, with little investment, pick up Herbalism and Mining. 16% Hit is needed for cap. Greater Mage Wand - Requires Level 13. There are multiple ways to open an infinite value loop as long as your mana permits. 3% Hit is needed for cap. As a last resort, when enemies attack you with Ice Armor applied, they'll be slowed once again, giving you a good window to Blink away. You'll want to keep them aggroed at all times, but fortunately they last for a long duration. Pick up "Cold Snap", which is a powerful defensive cooldown when combined with the "Ice Block" or Frost Nova spells. Make sure to use your wand to finish off opponents. Begin by picking up "Arcane Siphon" to reduce the likelihood your spells will be resisted, then grab 3 points in "Arcane Frost" to unlock the next row. For more information on leveling, be sure to check out our WoW Classic Herbs Leveling Guide and Alliance Leveling Guide to figure out the best places to quest and level to. You can see exactly how much time is left on your spells so that you know when they end so that you can reset them. Because of this, playing a Mage can be a bit tricky. While Tabetha will give you a choice of three wands, we recommend picking the Icefury Wand, as it perfectly complements our recommended Frost leveling build. After Portals become available, you can bring teammates along with you, making group activities much faster and more convenient. To get this gear you'll need to waste both time and money by leveling up Tailoring, buying the recipes (one of them is in a house in the middle of nowhere in the Wetlands) and farm the resources to craft them. Not only are these good for experience, but you can also use tailoring to make and sell bags, meaning it is a good gold-generating profession. It is the best ranged DPS for PvE, one of the most fun in PvP, very versatile solo and in a group. "Blink" is perhaps the single most useful defensive spell in a Mage's spellcasting vocabulary. While your rotation is simple, the way you execute it might not be. Meanwhile, Humans ability to detect Rogues can be a blessing, but it's a lot more situational. You will have information such as your XP /hour, XP /minute and XP average per kill, increases out of combat health and mana regeneration. Thankfully, Mages have a wide variety of spells which offer convenience for the Mage. Kill Use 2x Blizzard as they waddle in your direction and run and repeat using Cone of Cold or Frost Nova to control. Use it to avoid taking damage while falling, to escape the danger of melee enemies, or simply to make your way through the world more quickly. Hopefully you shouldn't be getting hit much in general with all the slows at your disposal, but if you do, this will give you some cushion to soak a few blows before spells are available again. An optimization tool for the most advanced. There's nothing better than spell damage and Frost damage, which both directly boost the power of your spells. When your target is frozen, you'll have a 50% increased spell critical strike chance. Vulnerable to interrupts and silences. Simply browse for your screenshot using the form below. The quest can be obtained from Argent Guard Theodril in Blackfathom Deeps and is turned in to Beshana Runetotem in Thunder Bluff. Intellect/Intellect is also a nice stat to have as a mage. Spirit The last stat you'll want is Spirit. Outside of Frost specialization, there aren't many reliable, constant ways to keep your distance from foes and, since you can't heal, it's more important to keep your distance than it is for other classes. Control: Once gathered, use Cone of Cold to north all mobs and if any resist, immediately use Frost Nova as a backup. Crafted with the Enchanting profession. Mages are one of the most versatile casting classes, when it comes to dealing damage. Combined with 100% increased critical strike damage from 5 points in Ice Shards and it's easy to see how frost is an effective leveling specialization! Level 1-20 - Simply train every skill available to you. Consider fighting enemies you are comfortable with. Even a single attack can ruin your Blizzard costing you a ton of mana and potentially your life because you no longer have the resources to kill the pack. Two Alliance races and two Horde races can become a Mage. 16% Hit is needed for cap As a mage, you'll get +6% spell hit from the talent "Elemental Precision", so you'll need 10% spell hit from gear to be CAPPED in PvE. Use the "beacon" command while targeting him to complete the quest, then return to Magus. It's hard to go wrong picking a talent because, if it looks good, it probably is. To simplify, AoE grinding can be achieved as a Mage through multiple methods. The most known method is using Frost Nova to root mobs in place and to burn them down with Improved Blizzard. Generally you shouldn't use Ice Armor as the slow effect will mess up your timings, however, if you are having trouble surviving you can use it as well as Mana Shield to increase survivability at the expense of efficiency. This will begin your mana regeneration earlier than if you used a spell like Fire Bolt to finish them off. Mages can also search refreshments for a modest mana cost, which they can distribute to the rest of the party, shortening the amount of time it takes the group to regenerate between mob pulls, or after wipes. Pick up both points in "Wand Specialization" because you'll want to get the most of your frequent wand usage. Against a target 3 levels higher than you: You have a 17% chance to miss. In one click, you get the complete pack of the best addons in each category (Bag, Log, Combat, Action Bars, etc.) to launch yourself into the WoW Classic adventure. XP /Hr: Tracker - Click to download Track your leveling efficiency accurately. Use Cone of Cold and then run away to channel another Blizzard. Notorious Shooter - Requires Level 46. If there are less than 3 enemies, use your single-target rotation after leveling Polymorph on one. Learn all about the right talents and choices to optimize your leveling adventure in our WoW Classic Mage Leveling Guide. Get creative with your positioning to gather them within range of your Frost Nova. See below the DPS (damage per mana) You can use that your best way to deal damage during leveling is to use the highest rank of your spell. Our Addon Starter Pack is here to help you. As soon as you get Ice Barrier, keep it up at all times. Use the /script spellstopcasting() with your important spell (in order to interrupt your cast and prioritize a counterspell for example). Locate the Rituals of Power tome on one of the bookshelves and return it to Tabetha in Dastallow Marsh. If you want to fight other players and primarily engage in PvP, Mining and Engineering are excellent choices. Conjure Frost and Conjure Water ensure that although Mages often have to sit out and drink, they'll always have a steady supply of good consumables without spending coin.
